

Using Photobucket to host your photos:

Firstly sign up at www.photobucket.com

You will then see a screen like the one below. Use the browse button(s) to select the photographs you want to include, then click submit.

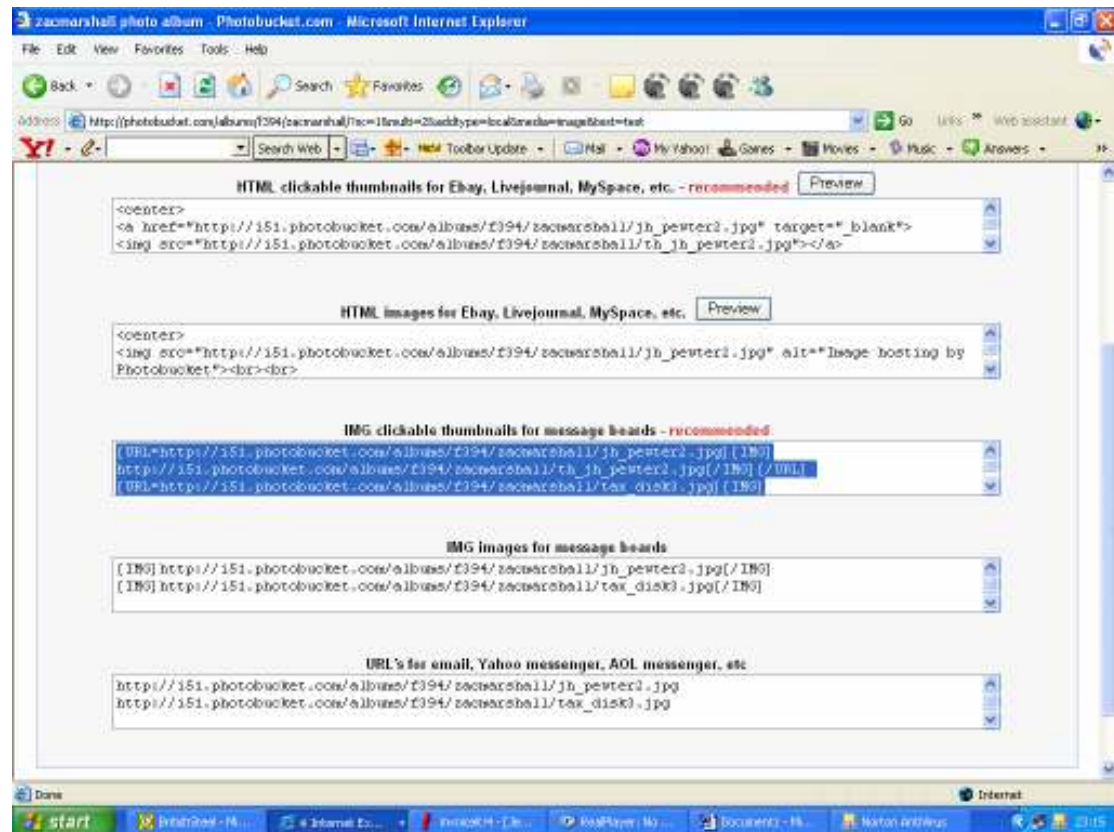

Select the photos to be included on the forum (you may want to use the select all option – if so click on the ‘select all’ text). You can now generate the code to copy into the forum, click the generate HTML and IMG code button.

If you want to include smaller pictures that people can click on for the full image, just copy the text as highlighted below, ie under the IMG clickable thumbnails for message boards – recommended.

If you want to include all the full size images in the posting then copy the text underneath IMG images for message boards.

You are now ready to share the photos of your pride and joy with us. Just go to the members cars section <http://www.joc.org.uk/phpBB2/viewforum.php?f=17> and click new topic. Paste the text you copied into the message body as below, add a title and amend the message body if you want to tell us something about your car. Press preview to have a look and then make sure you press submit..

That's it folks!

The screenshot shows a web browser window titled "The Jensen Owners' Club :: Post a new topic - Microsoft Internet Explorer". The address bar shows the URL "http://www.joc.org.uk/phpBB2/posting.php?mode=newtopic&f=17". The page contains a form for posting a new topic. The "Subject" field is labeled "Zac's super dooper regalia". The "Message body" field contains a quote and several image URLs. The "Options" section has checkboxes for "Disable HTML in this post", "Disable BBCode in this post", "Disable Smilies in this post", and "Notify me when a reply is posted". The "Poll" section has fields for "Poll question", "Poll option", and "Run poll for".
